I have been getting the calendar for over 15 years, mostly as a planting and moon phase guide. I was disappointed in the artwork this year. It was so grayed and dark. Also the symbols associated with each astrological sign were so limited. It didn't even find the astrological symbol for Pisces, nor were there the fish swimming in different directions. It used to be that the artwork reflected the energy of their sign. Taurus: Spring, Vibrant Earth mother, and earth energy. Hard working, yet ruled by Venus. This year painted in sick muted colors of green. The symbol was obvious though. I suppose the two giant twisted horns that couldn't be on a bull anatomically, represented it. Scorpio has three totems, The scorpion, the eagle and the Phoenix. It is very important that all three be recognized, because it reflects the evolution of the sign, and the journey that all souls will make at some point. I could go on. Can't put it on the wall this year.

I have purchased the Llewellyn Astrological Calendar every year since 1972. As a gardener, I use it to plant by the moon sign as well as plan health treatments, etc. I find it an invaluable resource and the illustrations are always beautiful so it is a piece of art hanging by my back door.

Have been buying this calendar every year for the past dozen years or so. It always features beautiful artwork, along with enough space to write appointments, etc. If you like astrology, this is the best calendar on the market.

I really like this calendar because it provides daily planet transits as well as good information on the planets, houses and so on, even to good days for planting. Some of the month's pictures are marvelous with wonderful detail, and some I didn't like because they feel dark - I cover those up. I wish there were a bit more room to write appointments in the calendar, but I wouldn't want to give up planet transit information, so I guess it's still good - and more meaningful than a calendar with just pictures.

One of the best around. I bought 2016 over the summer and 2017 got this yesterday. Stopped buying them for a few years because the mall stopped carrying them. My mom has been buying these calendars since I was a kid. Will keep continuing to buy them for her.

I like the calendar...and ALWAYS order two. One is a Kwanzaa gift for a friend, who lives by the moon's cycles and truly lives life using this!! IT IS AMAZING!

What a beautiful, motivating and cosmic calendar. Have ordered several as gifts for Leo's and my Scorpio self. I'm sure I will buy more for my friends as holiday gifts.

I have purchase Llewellyn's Calendars since 1985 and I love everything about it. I have kept every calendar since then for reference. The illustrations are beautiful and all the information contained within is like reading a book. It has information that is easy to follow for beginners and advance astrologers who want to keep a quick eye on the stars and planets.
